Test-Level Prior Authorization

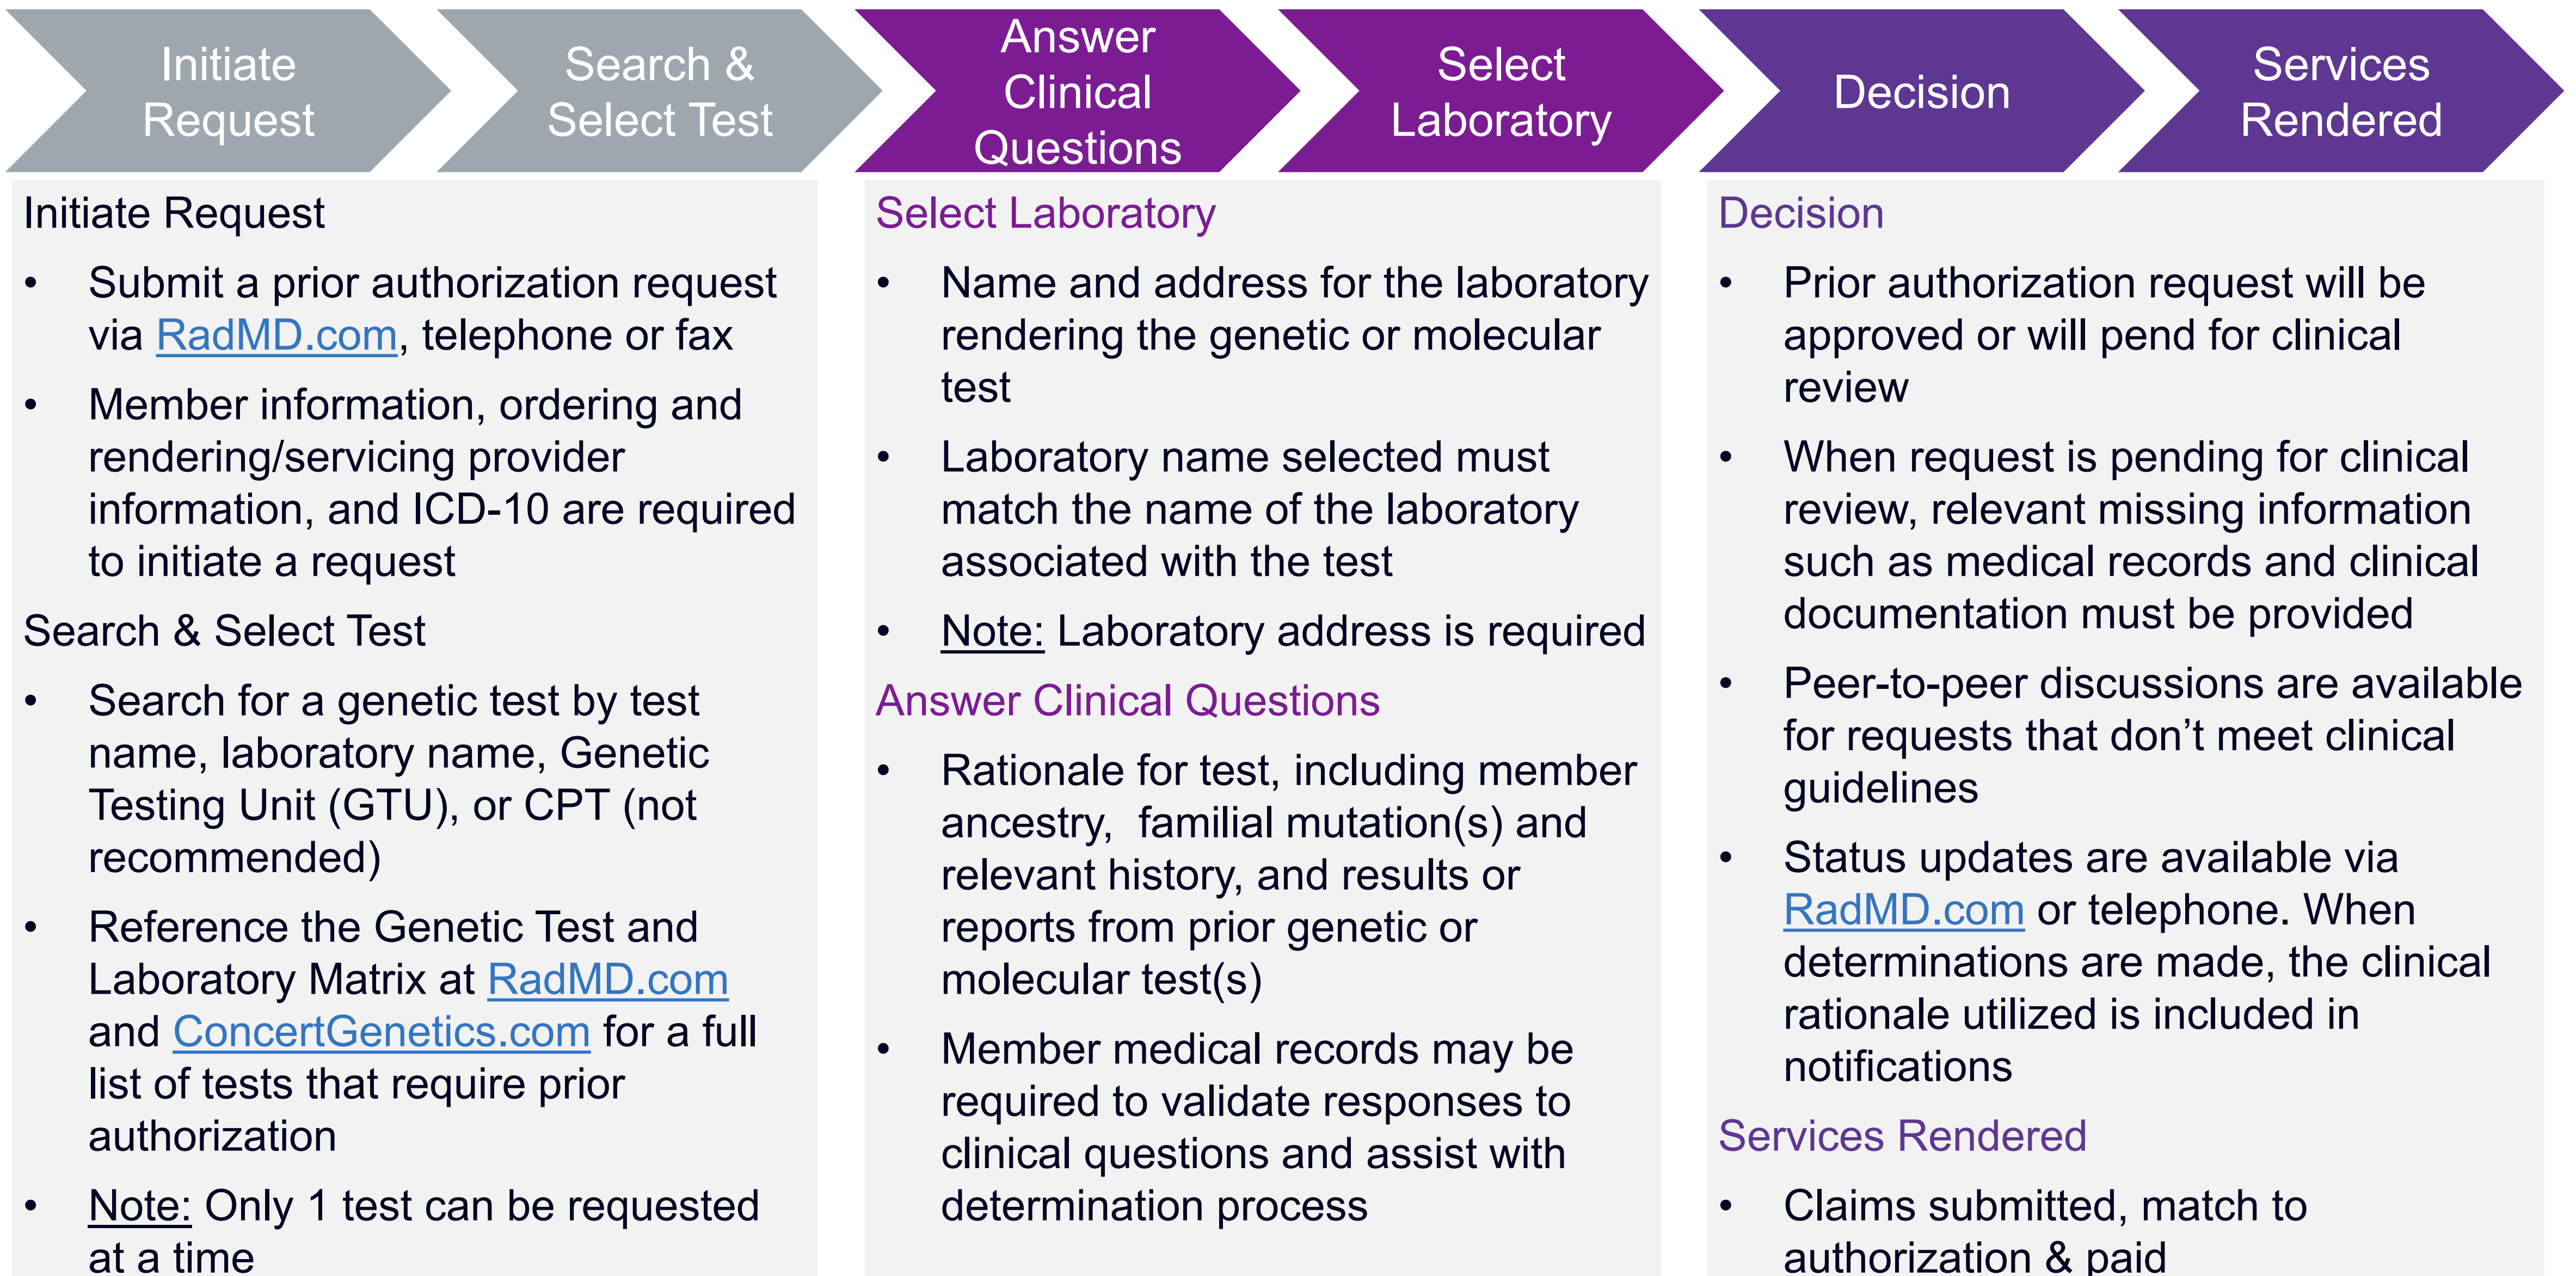

Step 1: Test Selection

During clinical intake, the user selects the test being ordered, which is displayed as the test name and lab name [e.g., Comprehensive Epilepsy Panel (PerkinElmer Genomics)]. Only tests that require authorization are displayed to the user; the user is not required to supply the GTU but may search by it.

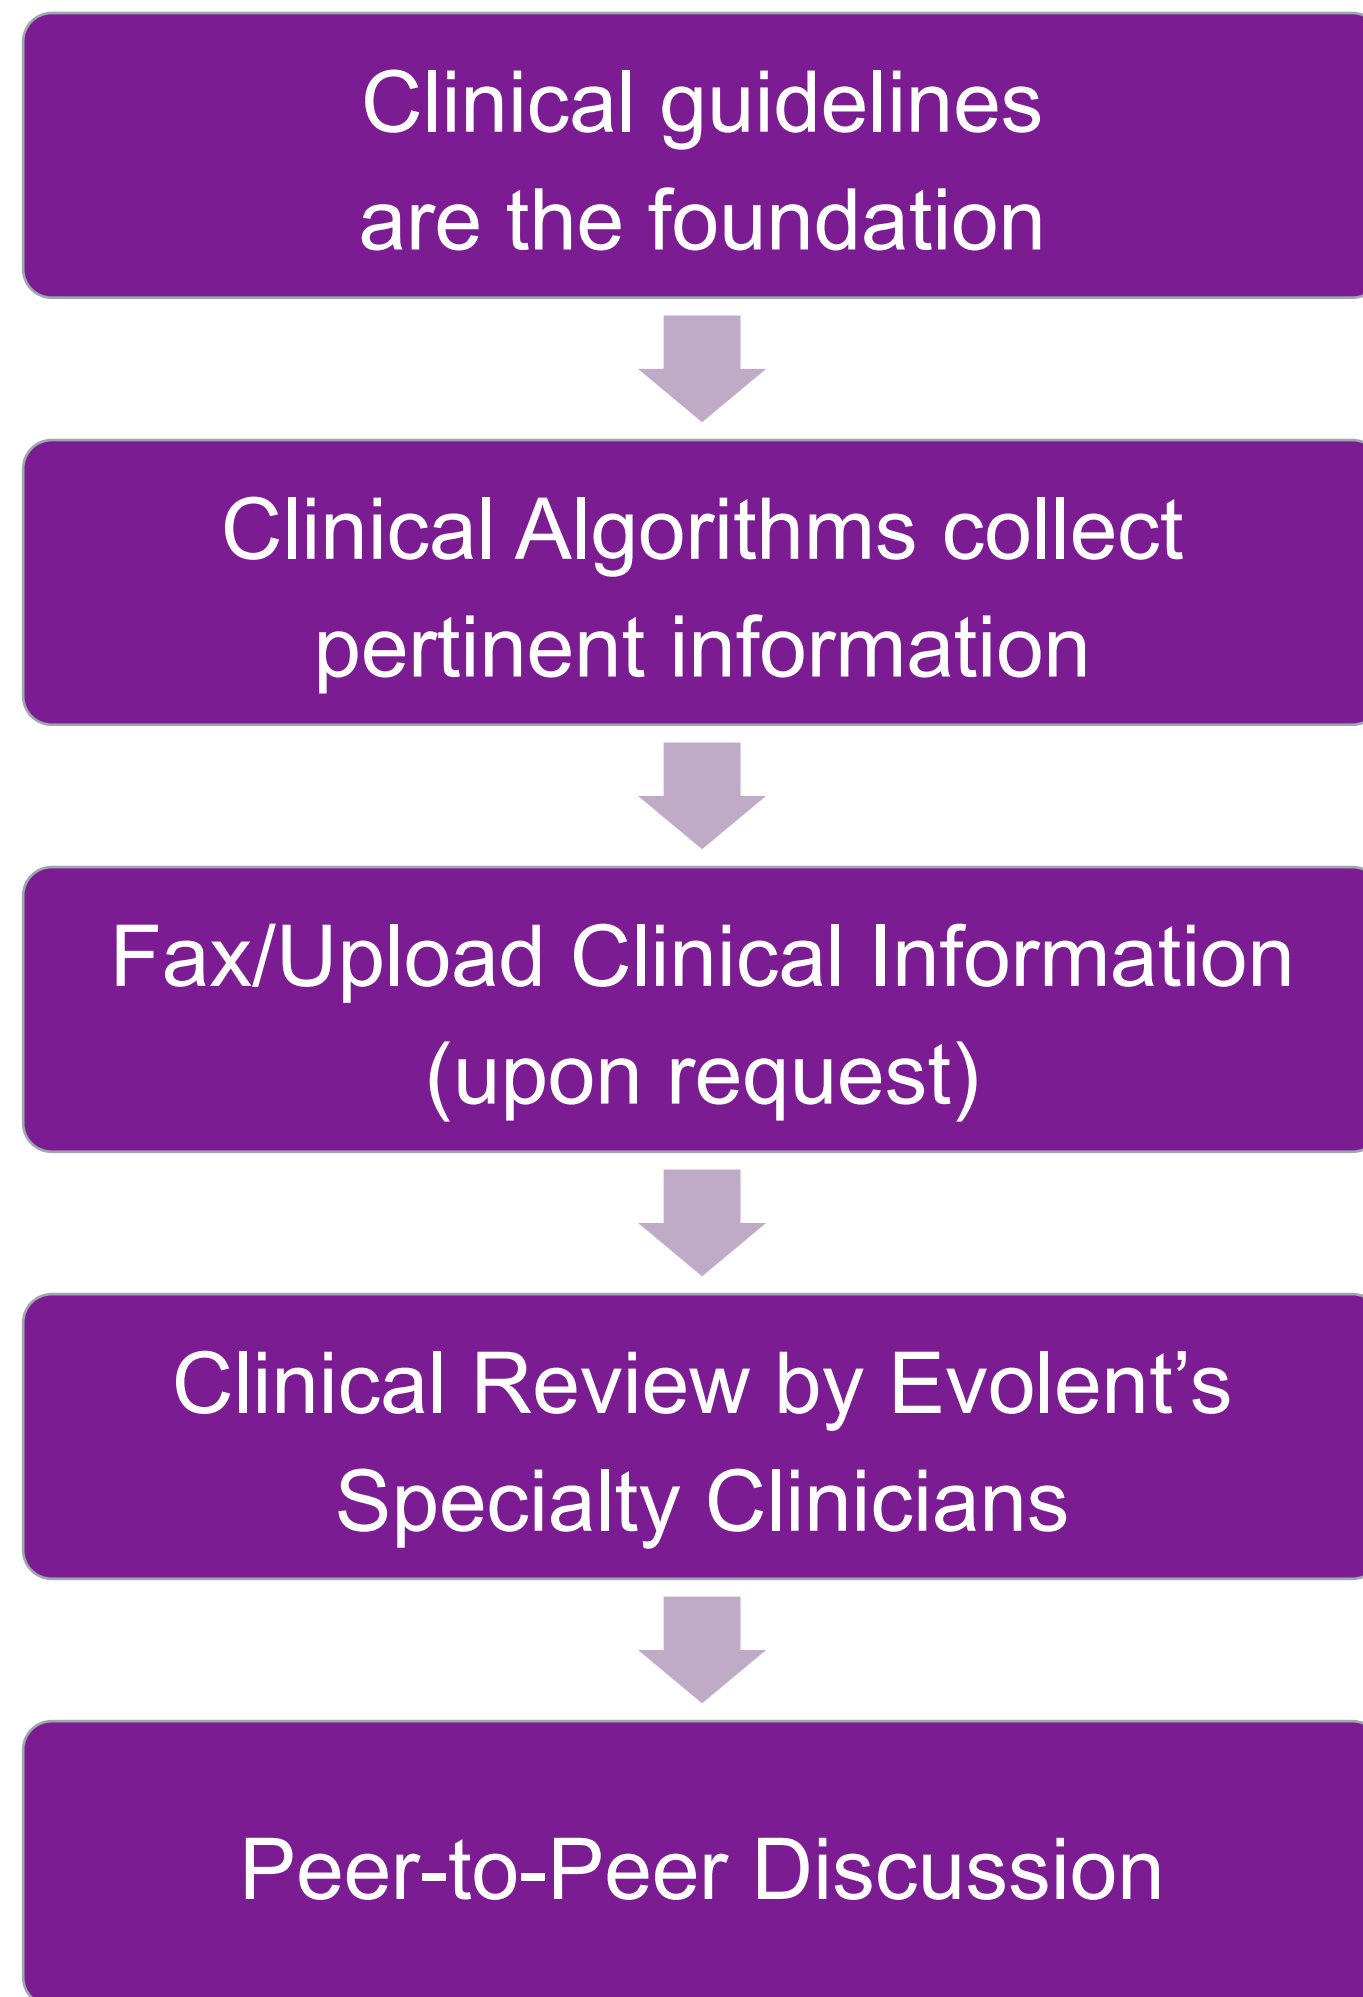

Step 2: Evolent performs medical necessity review

Prior Authorization Review Process

Evolent's Clinical Foundation & Review

- Clinical guidelines were developed by practicing specialty physicians, through literature reviews and evidenced-based research. Guidelines are reviewed and mutually approved by Superior Health Plan and Evolent Medical Officers and clinical experts. Clinical Guidelines are available on RadMD.com and ConcertGenetics.com
- Algorithms are a branching structure that changes depending upon the answer to each question.
- Medical policies are written by clinical genetics experts and structured to apply evidence-based standards through automation.
- The member's clinical information/medical record will be required for validation of clinical criteria before an approval can be made.
- Evolent has specialized clinical teams.
- Peer-to-peer discussions are offered for any request that does not meet medical necessity guidelines.
- Our goal – ensure that members are receiving appropriate care.

Medical Policy

Evolent uses approved medical policies for medical necessity reviews and for creation of clinical questions on RadMD

Genetic Testing: General Approach to Genetic Testing
V.2.2022

Effective: 7/1/2022

GENETIC TESTING: GENERAL APPROACH TO GENETIC TESTING

OVERVIEW

Genetic testing refers to the use of technologies that identify genetic variation, which include genomic, transcriptional, proteomic, and epigenetic alterations, for the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of disease. Germline variants or mutations are defined as genetic alterations that occur within the germ cells (egg or sperm), such that the alteration becomes incorporated into the DNA of every cell in the body of the offspring.

Genetic disorders can result when there is an alteration, or pathogenic variant, in a DNA sequence which causes the cell to produce an altered protein.

Some conditions, such as sickle cell disease, are caused by a single germline pathogenic variant. Other conditions, such as diabetes and heart disease, are more complex. These complex conditions are referred to as multifactorial conditions, meaning that there is a combination of different inherited and environmental factors. Environmental factors, such as nutrition, exercise, weight, smoking, drinking alcohol, and medication use may influence the observable characteristics of the condition.

Single gene testing, targeted variant analysis, and multigene panels are all examples of the types of genetic tests used to identify germline pathogenic or likely pathogenic variants that cause hereditary and multifactorial conditions. The general approach to genetic testing criteria is intended for the evaluation of genetic testing that has not been more specifically addressed by other coverage criteria.

Clinical Review Process

Authorization Validity Period

- Authorizations are valid for :
 - 60 days starting 10 business days prior to the date of service

Denial Notification

- Notifications include an explanation of services denied and the clinical rationale.
- Medicare plans: Effective 8/5/2024, peer-to-peer discussions must be performed before a final determination has been made on the request.
- Medicare re-opens are only allowed if the request complies with the CMS definition of a re-open. Providers will continue to have the option to submit an appeal utilizing the health plan's process.
- A peer-to-peer discussion can be initiated once the adverse determination has been made – Medicaid and Ambetter.
- In the event of a denial, providers are asked to follow the instructions provided in their denial letter.

Claims and Appeals

Claims Process:

- Providers should continue to submit their claims to Superior Health Plan.
- Providers are strongly encouraged to use EDI claims submission.
- Check on claims status by logging on to Superior Secure Provider Portal at:
Provider.SuperiorHealthPlan.com

- Appeals Process:

- In the event of a prior authorization or claims payment denial, providers may appeal the decision through Superior Health Plan.
- Providers should follow the instructions on their non-authorization letter or Explanation of Payment (EOP) notification.

Genetic and Molecular Testing Points

Providers search for a genetic or molecular test by name, laboratory, Genetic Testing Unit (GTU) or CPT code (not recommended). Only one test can be requested at a time.

Authorizations are test and location specific, please contact Evolent if the location changes. The location of the laboratory is important for Medicare as it determines which Local Coverage Determination (LCD) applies.

Providers should submit for authorization prior to performing a test. The validity period for genetic testing authorizations is 60 days and begins 10 business days prior to the requested date of service to allow for instances where the sample is collected in advance of testing.
